

UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE MAJOR _____

Prerequisites to Master's Programs*

(15 Semester Hours Required)

Statistics. An introductory course in statistics covering descriptive statistics, correlation, t-tests and Chi-square, etc.

Psychological Theory. Two courses in psychological theory (not including the introductory course in psychology) for example, personality, social, developmental, or learning.

Additional Courses. Two additional courses in education, psychology, and/or sociology.

* List courses you completed that address prerequisites, or courses you plan on taking to address prerequisites. None of the listed courses can count on your program of study.

If you are deficient in one or more of these areas, you may still be admitted with the provision that you make up any deficiencies during your graduate enrollment. Such make-up work will not count toward the hours required for any degree.
